Preface

JUTE: THE GOLDEN FIBRE OF BANGLADESH

Jute is one of the very few natural and rapid growing fibres in the World having economic value. It is second most important fibre next to cotton. It is abundantly grown in Bangladesh. The sub-aquatic soil of the Country, climatic conditions prevailing during the 120 days period required from sowing to harvesting and water available for retting & washing are mainly conducive for cultivation of this cash crop in Bangladesh. Jute grown in Bangladesh is most popular in the World for its fibre quality. Bangladesh Jute is famous for its length and strength. It is popularly known as Golden Fibre for its silky-lustrous and gold-like colour.

PROFILE OF JUTE ECONOMY

About 4 million farmers are directly involved in its cultivation. More than 20% of the total population of the Country are involved directly and indirectly in raw jute cultivation, production of jute goods, local trading, transportation, export marketing, port activities, shipping, banking activities, insurance, supporting factories, workshops and other related jobs. It provides livelihood and an important source of food security for this segment of the population. Jute contributes 4% to the national GDP of Bangladesh. It earns precious net foreign currency of US $ 300 million annually from export of Jute Fibre, Traditional Jute Products and Jute Diversified Products (JDP). This represents about 5% of the total foreign exchange earnings of the Country.

JUTE: BANGLA’S PRIDE AND CUSTOMERS’ PREFERENCE

Jute is the national pride, identity, tradition and cultural heritage of Bangladesh. It was one of the main issues that inspired people of Bangladesh to the Liberation War in 1971. Bangladesh is the largest exporter of jute and jute products in the World. It exports to more than 100 countries of the World with strict adherence to International specifications producing Traditional Products-Cordage, Rope, Twine, Hessian, Sacking, Wovens, Carpet Backing Cloth by 54 running composite Jute Mills under Bangladesh Jute Mills Association, 14 Jute Mills under Bangladesh Jute Mills Corporation & 50 Yarn & Twin Units under Bangladesh Jute Spinners Association producing Yarn & Twine. Some of these products form the basic materials for making JDP. A wide range of high value added JDPs are getting growing popularity at home and abroad. Products requiring the use of jute in new, alternative and non-traditional ways that add value to the final products are generally termed Jute Diversified Products.

ENVIRONMENT FRIENDLY & BIO-DEGRADABLE PROPERTIES

Like all other natural fibres Jute is also eco-friendly. Jute is a big source of renewable bio-mass. Bio-mass production in jute is 98 kg per day per hectare against only 28 kg per day per hectare for other plants. This relative advantage of bio-mass production is a focal issue for development of new type of materials and Jute Diversified Products. Jute plant canopy helps to release oxygen by absorbing carbon dioxide from the atmosphere. Moreover, jute stick is such a product which is almost double in amount to fibre production. It is very cheap and used for fencing and as fuel in the rural areas. Jute sticks are also used as industrial raw materials like jute fibre itself for producing particle boards as substitute of woods. This stops deforestation and thus protect environment. Jute contents cellulose, hemicellulose and lignin which are the main causes behind its bio-degradable property. Moreover, jute plant roots contain beta-carotin which helps to improve soil texture and thus enrich soil. It helps to resist heat and fire considerably. The falling leaves of jute plants till harvesting at 10-15 feet height add nutrients to the soil when bio-degrades. Soft leaves of tender jute plants are also a source of regular palatable vegetables in the villages, towns and cities.

2006 THE INTERNATIONAL YEAR OF NATURAL FIBRES

For the growing consciousness about the looming environmental hazards, which has already imperilled the mother Earth, people all over the world are now more inclined to use natural fibres. Belated though, perhaps from these realisations UN General Assembly has endorsed FAO’s resolution to declare 2009 as the International year of Natural Fibres to create more awareness about the versatile benefits and potentials of natural fibres all over the World by holding seminars, symposiums, workshops, discussions meetings, publications of leaflets, banners, films etc.

CATALOGUE: A REPRESENTATIVE PROFILE OF JDPs

The sole purpose of publishing this catalogue with the financial assistance of the International Jute Study Group is aimed at increasing end-use applications of eco-friendly jute products by creating more awareness about the already deteriorating global environment. This catalogue is a representative profile of widest range of Jute Diversified Products wherein azo-free dyes and vegetable dyes are used. JDPs are categorised as fibre-based, yarn-based and fabric-based some of which are:*

* Jute composites, Non-wovens for use in agrotech sector and for use as blankets, technical, processed and treated fibres for making automotive interior components and fire barrier mattresses, Flax/cotton/linen and decor items.

* Finer, Bleached, Dyed, Coated, Woolenized, Blended yarn, Hammock, Shikka, Shoes, espadrilles, Braided Rugs.

* Light, designed, Checked, Dyed, Bleached fabrics, Union Fabrics, Seminar Bags, Folders and Files, Tapestries, Curtains, Home textiles, Bed cover, Sofa cover, Cushion cover, Scrim cloth, Canvas, Tarpaulin, Floor coverings, Mats, Satrani, Wall mats, Table mats, Case- Textiles, Linoleum backing cloth, Shopping bags, Carry bags, Travel bags, soft luggage, Wine bags, Vanity bags, Nursery pots, Sheets, square, etc.

This effort of Jute Diversification Promotion Centre under Ministry of Textiles & Jute, Govt. of the People’s Republic of Bangladesh will facilitate the existing and prospective buyers and importers as well as the end-users to interact meaningfully with the producers and exporters for mutual benefits.
